FAREWELL MESSAGE

As I make plans to leave the University, I want to take this opportunity to thank you, the UNF students, for the cooperation and assistance you have given me during this organizational and developmental period. Without your help we could not have laid the groundwork for what I believe will be a good student personnel program. President Carpenter and Vice President Lassiter are vitally interested in providing students with services which will support their educational progress. Therefore, I know you will always have the support and attention of the administration.

When you are in Atlanta, I trust you will come by Georgia State University and visit with me. My office is on the fourth floor of the Student Activities Building.

Best wishes to you in all your endeavors, both here at UNF and in the future.

William R. Baggett

Dean of Students

Summer Films at UNF

Student Activities has arranged to continue showing films on campus for the summer quarter. The next two films to be shown are as follows:

LOVE STORY, starring Ryan O'Neal and Ali MacGraw will be shown on Friday, June 22, at 8:00 pm in the Library lounge. Love Story is a tantalizing story about an uptight rich boy who meets a free-spirited poor girl. In time he overcomes his hostility and she drops her self-protective scoffing and they fall in love and marry. Her untimely death after "never having to say you're sorry" brings a clearing of throats and muffling of sobs and blowing of noses to a clear majority of the human race.

On Friday, June 29 also in the library lounge at 8:00 pm, there will be a showing of BONNIE AND CLYDE. "Bonnie and Clyde" has become an undisputed milestone in movie-making. Controversial enough to make critics damn and then praise it, and important enough to change the entire intent and purpose of filmmaking for years to come, "Bonnie and Clyde" speaks of innovation - the violence erupting out of playfulness, the lovemaking finally fulfilled by a sense of impending death, and the artistic recreation of the characters and the events of the lawless period of the Depression. Actual police files credit the Bonnie Parker gang with 19 murders, committed while robbing stores, banks, and gas stations. A winner of two Academy Awards, the film reproduces their exploits with shocking authenticity, and has been hailed by many as 1967's best picture.

Due to extenuating circumstances in the cost of shipping and handling for the film LOVE STORY, it is necessary that there be a small donation of .25 per person for this film.

Commencement for UNF grads

University of North Florida Commencement Exercises for the First Graduating Class were held June 10, 1973 at four o'clock in the University Courtyard. President Carpenter delivered the Commencement address to the class of Graduates. Twenty-seven Bachelor degrees were conferred and seven Masters Degrees, making a total graduating class of thirty-four.

CLUB NEWS

The Propeller Club of the United States, Port of the University of North Florida, is concerned with matters of interest and importance in maritime matters, domestic and foreign commerce, business administration, and economics. We try to foster group discussions and individual discourses by either active members or outside experts in these fields, to promote scholarly research in fields of concern to the maritime industry, and encourage good fellowship among its members.

The club is composed of students in all areas of business administration and other majors. Through participation in the club, members will have a broader concept of the business world. We believe in getting into the business community by introducing students to businessmen who hire college graduates in their particular fields.

The activities in which club members have participated are too many to enumerate, but to give the prospective members an idea of these activities and the functions of the club, we have prepared a short list: Port tours, company visits with Executives, Luncheons, Conventions, Panel Discussions, Prominent Speakers, Social Events, Scholarships, Awards, etc.

We hope that you carefully review the merits of the Propeller Club at UNF and then ask yourself if these functions and activities will be beneficial to your stay here. If the answer is yes, then get in touch with members of the Propeller Club or myself, who are anxious to answer your questions.

USN sponsors singles night

The United States Naval Station at Mayport is the homeport for many fine Navy ships. But it is also home for a great many single young Officers. In an effort to provide an opportunity for these Officers to meet and get to know the young ladies in the Jacksonville area the Mayport Officer's Club is sponsoring a series of "singles nights".

These "singles nights" are an excellent chance for socializing in an atmosphere of live music, casual dining and cocktails in the beautiful facilities of the Club on the Ocean. The next "singles night" will be held on June 21 from 6 pm until midnight.

Dress is casual and comfortable. Simply come to the Main Gate and tell them you are heading to "singles night". A base pass and directions will be provided.

If you have any questions or need additional information please call Mr. William Emery at 246-5570.

Sports Festival A Success

Although the Spring Sports Day has come and gone, the memories connected with the festive event will remain for a long time. Students, staff and faculty all joined in to make the Spring Festival a huge success and another first for UNF.

Congratulations to the Sawmill Slough Conservation Club for their outstanding olympic endeavors which made them overall winner and recipient of a plaque to that effect. A close 2nd was taken by the UNF Intramural Department and the Psychology Club grabbed the 3rd place position for overall winnings.

Special recognition was given to the staff in the Student Affairs office for their outstanding competitive spirit and team effort.

The days festivities ended with the presentation of Leadership awards to outstanding students and faculty for their contributions to the university. Dean Baggett was awarded a special order of merit for his outstanding leadership qualities and service to the student body.

The Spring Festival was such a tremendous success that the Student Activities Office is tentatively planning an entire Fall sports week to be held around the 2nd month of the fall quarter. Each day will host particular activities such as volley ball, softball, tennis, and other sports. Keep your eyes and ears open for further information concerning the Fall sports week.

ATTENTION

New Career placement brochures on many major companies and foundations have been received in Student Activities. A college placement annual containing information on interviewing and sending resumes is also available to all interested students. This material is available in the Conference Room of the Student Activities Office 003/2401 anytime between 8:30 am and 5:00 pm.

IRS ruling

The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that amounts received by students who, as a condition to receiving Bachelor of Science degrees, are required to participate in a university designated work-term period under the supervision and direction of the employers to whom they perform services, are not excludable as scholarships or fellowship grants but are includible in gross income as compensation for services rendered and are wages subject to income tax withholding. IRS issued the decision in revised ruling 73-218.

The agency said the advice was requested by an unidentified university which requires BS degree candidates to participate in a university designated work period for ten weeks each year.

"The students are paid for working under the supervision and the direction of their employers, and the student's activities are of benefit to the employer," IRS held. "The amounts received by the students are the same as those received by other employees with the same background and experience doing similar work. Thus, the entire amounts paid are compensation for present employment services within the meaning of section 1.117-4 of the regulations."

HEALTH HINTS

Since the UNF Health Services nurses are frequently being asked their thoughts on Marijuana, here is the latest article that has come across our desk. It's something to think about before "monkeying around".

Experiments at the Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center of Emory University support the view that marijuana smoking affects the perception of time. Three adult great apes were trained to smoke cigarettes in a three year project. Peck and Su, chimpanzees, and Dindling, an orangutan, were also taught to pull a lever, wait at least 10 seconds, and pull it again in order to get a piece of chocolate candy. "To get the most candy, the animals have to learn to pace their responding," it was explained.

On days they smoked regular cigarettes, the animals were found to be efficient in their responses, with most coming at 10, 11, and 12 seconds. But on days they received marijuana in their cigarettes, they responded more often in less than 10 seconds, decreasing their efficiency. This investigation was conducted by three men with their Ph.D's in Psychology.

"With the drug, the animals seemed to judge that time was passing more rapidly than it was, to the extent that we have anecdotal reports that time perception changes after smoking marijuana and these results seem to indicate that this also happens to animals," Dr. Cole commented.

The Health Office also has the report of the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse for 1972, for anyone that might be interested in reading it.
